Terms of Third-Party Software Services

Business Made Agile Oy

These Terms apply when Business Made Agile Oy ("Supplier") acts as a reseller or facilitator of third-party software platforms (e.g., HubSpot, GoHighLevel, Zero CMMS).

1. Nature of the Service

The Supplier provides access to and resells licenses for third-party software. The Supplier does not develop, own, or maintain the underlying software code.

2. Third-Party Terms (EULA)

The Customer's use of the software is subject to the End-User License Agreement (EULA) and Terms of Service of the respective third-party provider. The Customer agrees to comply with these third-party terms.

3. Warranty and Liability Disclaimer

- Service Availability: The Supplier is not responsible for the uptime, performance, or data security of third-party platforms. All technical warranties are provided solely by the third-party software provider.
- Service Interruptions: The Supplier is not liable for damages caused by failures or interruptions in the third-party software.

4. Dependency on Third Parties

If a third-party software provider terminates the Customer's access or ceases operations, the Supplier's obligation to provide related access or support terminates automatically.

5. AI Models

The Supplier is not liable for any changes, inaccuracies, or data privacy issues arising from AI models (e.g., OpenAI, Anthropic) integrated into third-party software.
